

CONTENT

	Page
● Performance of biochemical compounds and cup quality of Arabica coffee as influenced by genotype and growing altitude. Dwi Nugroho, Panjisakti Basunanda, and Yusianto .....	1–23
● Yield performance of promising cocoa clones ( Theobroma cacao L.) in dry climatic conditions. Agung Wahyu Susilo, Indah Anita-Sari, and Bayu Setyawan .....	24–31
● Factors determining the characteristics of cocoa soil in Sulawesi. Erwin Prastowo and John Bako Baon .....	32–46
● Earthworm abundance and soil characteristics following cocoa waste and manure applications. Erwin Prastowo, Lina Dwi Agustina, and Cahyo Prayogo .....	47–55
● Optimization of microencapsulation process of green coffee extract with spray drying method as a dietary supplement. Claudia Gadizza Perdani, Tiara Ayu Prihardhini, and Dodyk Pranowo .....	56–67
● Adoption status and factors determining coffee technology adoption in Jimma Zone, South West Ethiopia. Meskerem Million, Mezgeb Like, and Tamiru Chalchisa .....	68–83
● Factors affecting entrepreneurial capacity building of smallholder coffee farmers in East Java Province. Sudarko, Sumardjo, Anna Fatchiya, and Prabowo Tjitropranoto .....	84–95
● Good agricultural practices (GAP 1) programme and its implications on cocoa yield of participants in Ondo State, Nigeria. Odefadehan Olalekan Olamigoke and Ogunwande Isaac Oluwasegun .....	96–108

